Friday, April 22 – Understanding iCloud

iCloud is Apple's take on providing an Internet-based glue to bind together all your digital stuff — photos, files, notes and more — across all your devices, including every iPhone, iPad, Mac and Apple TV you or your family owns. Join us as we look at just what iCloud is, how and where it works, and how much it costs. We will also compare iCloud to some of its more popular competitors from Google, Microsoft and others in order to give you a better understanding of whether or not iCloud is right for you."

Friday, April 29 – Photo editing on your Smart Phone

Join Brian Collicott and Alex Henry as they demonstrate some of the built-in and free to download photo editing tools on smart phones and how to begin utilizing them to improve the quality of photos you have taken. We will look at examples of how to capture old family photos with your smart phone and fix faded and color damaged pictures.
